FEATURED WORKSHOPS

Breakthrough Strategies to Teach and Counsel Students With Challenges

Workshop Scholarships Available: Call 503-982-4220

Description: We wrote the book on “problem” students and we teach the class. At the start of this workshop, you’ll name your most serious and persistent K-12 student concerns, then you’ll immediately receive hundreds of practical, success-building, ready-to-use interventions for your students’ specific issues. This solution-filled workshop has been held at schools, districts, universities and institutes throughout the U.S. and Canada, and returns in 2019 to Portland for its 27th encore presentation. The Breakthrough Workshop delivers the newest and best answers that exist for the most difficult-to-manage school, social, emotional, behavioral, and classroom management concerns. This practical, information-packed seminar delivers 200 use-now, more effective strategies to turnaround or better manage concerns like student work refusal, trauma, mental health issues, out-of-control behavior, bullying, school violence, ADHD, Asperger’s, defiance, poor motivation, underperforming, disrespect, absenteeism, conduct disorder, S.E.D., depression, learning disabilities, withdrawal and much more. Make the one or two day investment that delivers years-long results. Scholarships offered. Optional college credit $55, 10-20 PDUs, 10 free clock hours, Washington State OSP/Teacher Hours $25. Online course also available at <http://www.youthchg.com/troubled-students-online-professional-development-workshop/>. Instructor: Author, veteran trainer, professor, mental health expert, Ruth Herman Wells M.S.

"A treasure chest of motivational tools" Monterey CA Herald Newspaper

"Thank you! I appreciate your emphasis on underlying cause vs. symptoms when looking to understand and help students. Teachers need to hear this." Jillynn Garcia, Northwest Regional ESD/Pacific Academy, Beaverton, OR

"5 Hours in L.A. gridlock! Your Breakthrough Strategies Workshop brought me back." Judi Hynne, Los Angeles, CA

"I love the workshop. I took 17 pages of notes! I can't wait to let the other teachers in my school know about your class. It is well worth the time. The even greater part are the skills you teach. A hidden goldmine." Rachel Jensen, Raft River Schools, Idaho

"Brings innovative and creative techniques for teachers, counselors, parents and other adults from the realm of ideas to hard core reality." California Association of Counseling and Development Newspaper

Transgender in America: Looking Back and Moving Forward

Description: This workshop with Jenn Burleton will arm participants with a better understanding of the complex personal, social, political and medical challenges that affect the lives of transgender people. Content will be relevant to all ages, and include a retrospective examination of how generational attitudes toward gender diversity have impacted policies, civil and human rights, and healthcare.

Attendees will gain increased perspective on the complex historical and cultural attitudes and politics that have impacted the lives of transgender people.

Material covered will enhance and improve the implementation of personal and professional advocacy efforts in the areas of social justice, service delivery and family support, and will be relevant to people of all ages and professional levels.

Participants will learn to:

- Engage more effectively with transgender people of all ages with a greater understanding of their historical, institutional and societal challenges
- Interpret data on psycho-medical approaches to care in order to provide more supportive services to transgender students
- Facilitate more effective service delivery and expanded outreach to populations and communities in need
