

If You're Rude, You're Our Dude

Seeking someone mean to join our team. We offer good pay for bad behavior. Primary duties include greeting customers with a scowl, and developing and maintaining interpersonal problems. Must have the willingness and skill to create and use a wide variety of rude and/or argumentative comments. We also require strong problem-causing skills, and the ability to sustain a consistently negative attitude. The ability to provide bilingual put-downs is not required but would be very helpful.

Everybody Knows Somebody Who Doesn't Like Them Sometimes

A lot of us base our self-esteem on what others think. When someone doesn't like us, we may "cave in" and feel badly about ourselves, but the reality is, not everyone is going to like you all of the time. Here are some guesses at how many people are going to like you. If the people you know, like you at about the rates shown, that's normal. If you have many more people disliking you than the rates shown, then you may want to get some help to figure out where the problem lies. Either way, remember-- your esteem is supposed to be YOUR opinion of you.

How to Tell if You've Seen a Grope

1. When choosing where to stand, the best distance from me to you is:
  - A) Nose to nose
  - B) On your toes
  - C) About one arm length away.
2. When people say "No," it really means:
  - A) "Yes" with an attitude
  - B) That the "N" and "o" are silent
  - C) "Stop!"
3. When touching others, it's always best to:
  - A) Grope first, ask second
  - B) Ask first, grope second
  - C) Ask first and comply with the answer.
4. When touching others, a guideline to follow is:
  - A) Never touch anything labeled "Radioactive"
  - B) Never touch anything you can't reach
  - C) Never touch anything without getting permission first.
5. When interacting with members of the opposite-gender, it's especially important to:
  - A) Touch only after making rude comments
  - B) Touch only before making rude comments
  - C) Touch only in the area from the elbows to the hands, and only after asking.
6. When watching pro sports like football and hockey, it's important to remember that:
  - A) Slapping people's backsides is a universal greeting
  - B) Violent contact is welcomed everywhere
  - C) No one should ever behave as badly as misbehaved pro athletes.
