Why not you, girl?

While nearly all jobs require some math, if you love math class, you can easily build a whole career around it.

There’s a huge array of math jobs. These include finance, accounting, teaching, research, government and energy.

Many math-based careers pay well and offer good benefits and job security.